Mrs. Arnette Giles received national recognition from President Richard Nixon as the 1971 National Volunteer Winner at a special banquet Thursday night in Washington, D.C.

In presenting the award to the 71-year-old resident of Pearllington, Nixon said "her type of spirit is what distinguishes this country from others and makes it great."

More than 400 guests and volunteers attended the dinner at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

Mrs. Giles was the individual winner of the National Volunteer Award sponsored by the National Center for Voluntary Action. She was cited for her work with homeless and retarded children, raising 40 such children in her own home.

SERVE, an organization from Staten Island, N.Y., was given the group winner award.

Mrs. Eunice Kennedy Shriver, sister of the late President Kennedy, presented a $5,000 check to Mrs. Giles.

always been wasted on death. This is life."

Mrs. Giles thanked the gathering and emphasized that she had never expected any recognition for her work. "I came from a broken home. I know the heartaches. I vowed as a child to do everything I could to ease the heartaches of other children."

Earlier, Nixon who was accompanied by the First Lady noted that "these children had a chance because of Mrs. Giles."

Henry Ford II pointed out that Mrs. Giles had done all of her work "without even a feasibility study. She did it all by herself." Ford is the Chairman of NCVA. After the banquet, several well-wishers approached Mrs. Giles congratulating her and commenting on her unselfishness and devotion to the welfare of others.

The affair was attended by cabinet members, White House aides and business leaders.

Mayor Warren Carver of Bay St. Louis headed the Hancock County delegation which included Mrs. C. R. Beyer, executive secretary of the Hancock County United Fund; Perry Gibson, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Frances Frankiewicz, director of the Hancock County Welfare Department; Mrs. Gwen Jahn, a friend of Mrs. Giles and Mrs. Gwen Guillot, Chairman of the Council for the Aged. Accompanying Rev. and Mrs. Giles were their son, Eugene Giles, and their grandson, Arthur Clementine.

It Was Her Night

The large banquet crowd sat quietly as the narrator, with the help of a slide presentation, related the story of Mrs. Arnette Giles.

It was the simple yet beautiful story of a woman who, unwanted as a child, vowed to devote her life to caring for unwanted children. It was the story of her work raising 40 retarded children in her home and of teaching other retarded children in the Special School in Hancock County. It was the story of a woman who with only three years of formal education, is now attending college to become a "better teacher." It was the story of Gary, Mrs. Giles' latest ward, thought to be deaf and dumb but who has just spoken his first word thanks to this remarkable woman.

The narrator ended the short biography and the large crowd stood and applauded this woman from Pearllington, Miss., and the work she had done.

Almost hidden by an oversized podium, but with great simplicity and dignity, Mrs. Giles spoke to the gathering: "I am not used to giving speeches. I never worked with the expectation of laurels."

check Mrs. Giles received as part of the award, she said "The doctors say that one day little Gary may be able to talk and to hear. With this money I will try and do everything to make that possible."

In closing, Mrs. Giles appealed to the people to "look into your hearts and go back to your communities and try to do what you can to help these children. God bless you."

Again the crowd stood and again they applauded. Many Washington dignitaries and other "very important people" attended the banquet but only two people received standing ovations—President Nixon and Mrs. Arnette Giles.

Commissioners Discuss Warranty Deed Issuance

Port and Harbor Commission

regarding issuance of a warranty deed for Coastal Millworks & Supply, Inc. for conveyance of an additional 437 acres of land in the industrial park.

Active Port and Harbor director John Scalfie explained that due to a misunderstanding concerning the company's lease arrangement with the county for a commercial plant in the industrial park, Coastal Millworks executives were under the impression that railroad service would be needed in transportation facilities.

The Shortline Railroad now under construction at the Port and Harbor will extend from the Louisville and Nashville mainline to a point near the plant, but the contract does not provide for rail services on plant property.

Scalfie said Amos Sexton and Houston Morris, company owners, were willing to finance construction of their own spur off the shortline, which would necessitate a deed for the additional four and a half acres. He further stated that Sexton had indicated to the commission that the company would be willing to extend easement and utility rights to the county in the event of another plant operation locating to the north of their site, and heading rail service.

Supervisor President Dolph Keller asked that a written commitment to that effect be obtained from the company before the warranty deed is Mississippi Test Facility in that negotiations were in progress with SCAT (South Central Air Transport) heads and NASA officials for a possible expansion of SCAT schedules to 11 flights a day out of Stennis Field. Scalfie said the proposal of air traffic from NASA-MTF indicates the necessity of an expanded flight schedule. Other services such as protection for private vehicles parked overnight at the airport, an auto rental service and two passenger agents at the airport were also under discussion.

In other business, Scalfie urged the commission and the supervisors to consider the eventual operation and supervision of Bayou Caddy facilities, especially as the shrimp season approaches. There has been some concern among local commercial boat in regard to the possible operation under close supervision for the Bayou Caddy installation. Named to the committee were Dr. John Levan, chairman, boat five supervisor James Travies, Burton Courtes and W.C. Erickson. Travies is also a member of the Miss. Marine Conservation Commission.

Consulting engineer Thomas Frommherz in presenting a monthly progress report told the commission that the three dredging boats had pumped a total of 1,192,000 cubic yards from Harbor channels, and that track work on the P & H railroad was 90 percent complete. Other items were discussed and approved by the commission.

The commission also approved an EDA claim docket and an operating fund claim docket.

MTF Site Chosen For Center

Hancock County.

The new regional center, an agency of NOAA's National Ocean Survey, will be responsible for providing instrumentation test, evaluation, calibration and services to the Survey's National Data Buoy Center, located at MTF. The services will also be available to other federal and state agencies, on a reimbursable basis, and to universities and private enterprises. The Survey Headquarters are located in Washington, D.C. Other NOAA organizations at MTF include the National Marine Fisheries Service and the Lower Mississippi River Forecast Center, which is operated at the NASA Suddell Computer Complex.

Because of this intensive test and performance evaluation program, ocean-going instruments such as conductivity, temperature and depth systems, current meters, salinometers and marine meteorological instrumentation systems will be able to furnish more accurate and reliable readings of salt content, depth and temperature of our world's waters. Plans also call for future testing and calibration of related environmental instruments and equipment.

Results of test measurements, calibration techniques and laboratory and field standards generated from this oceanographic instrumentation center will be published and disseminated to a wide variety of ocean-related federal, state and local agencies, as well as academic and industrial in-terprises. The Survey Headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

MTF Employee Killed On Highway 607

Okay H. Linde, a 36-year-old Mississippi Test Facility employee was killed Thursday night as a result of a one-car accident on Highway 607, near MTF.

According to an eyewitness, Linde's automobile turned over repeatedly after leaving the highway and was a mass of twisted metal trapping the driver within. Investigating highway patrolman Ray Collins called an ambulance and Linde was taken to Crosby Memorial Hospital in Piquette, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. The highway patrol was notified of the accident about 7 p.m.

Deep Keel Buoy Arrives At MTF

The first operational unit to be instrumented and evaluated by the National Data Buoy Center, Mississippi Test Facility, arrived at the Center yesterday following a 2,500 mile overland journey.

Met by Commander William L. King, Acting Director, NDBC, who also conducted brief ceremonies to mark the event, the 25-ton displacement buoy was built by Lockheed Missile and Space Company, Sunnyvale, California. Jackson M. Balch, Director, MTF, also participated in the ceremonies. The buoy is an experimental prototype, built under a $1.4 million pact between Lockheed and the Center, and is to be instrumented under the direction of the National Data Buoy Center, an agency of the National Ocean Survey, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

The 23-foot boat hull shaped buoy, fully assembled, will be configured with a 15.5-foot keel for stability and a 29-foot fully instrumented mast.

The buoy's unique hull is designed to reduce anchor line stress and drag and allow anchorage in depths up to 13,200 feet.

At sea there will be two automatic diesel generators aboard to drive generators and charge batteries. Electronic equipment will collect, process and transmit weather and oceanographic data automatically on a pre-timed basis to shore stations.

This buoy system is one of a number which will be deployed for test and evaluation in the Gulf during the summer months prior to the hurricane season. Towing and placement will be by the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter "ACUSHNET" stationed in Gulfport.

Do you really want your brother-in-law to know how much you earned last year?

Of course not. It's nobody's business but your own.

However, annually millions of taxpayers bear this kind of personal information to people who really shouldn't know. For what? Just so they can save a few dollars doing their income tax.

That's some price to pay. You see, for only a few dollars more than it costs to do it with any amateur who might not know that work clothes in some instances are deductible, or that mortgage interest might save tax dollars, you can have your tax return done by a specially trained member of the H & R Block team with complete confidentiality. There are thousands of them in over 6,000 convenient, local offices. H & R Block's fee is only $25.00 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the million families who changed last year.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

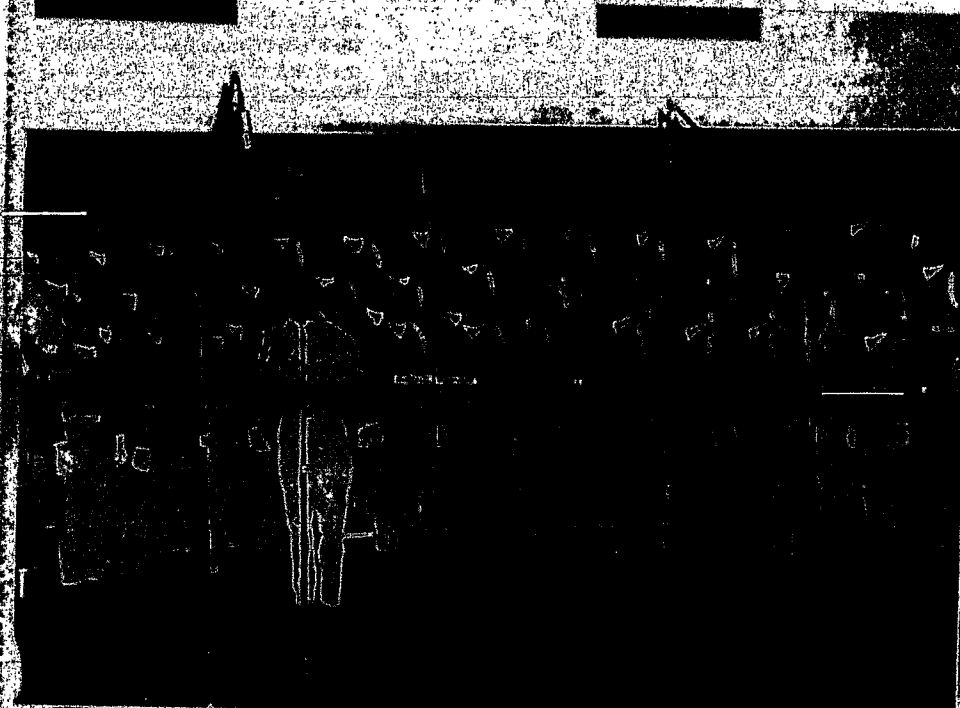

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year-round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates. Yes, we cost a little bit more than your relatives or friends or neighbors but when you think of what we deliver, you can't afford anything less than H & R Block.

I-10 Threat Is For Real

Construction of I-10 in Mississippi is taking on some of the aspects of the Suez Canal in its construction days - the natives are getting restless and rightfully so.

Gulf Coast merchants looking ahead see instant death for the coast when I-10 is open.

Eastbound motorists will be able to stay on I-10 and in a few short hours, drive right through Mississippi and never know what they've missed.

Gulf Coast merchants are facing a double threat. State officials in Jackson have long regarded the coast as the proverbial "stepchild" - the family "plum". Committee participation, legislation and other political plums have historically been the exclusive heritage of North Mississippi counties. Particularly demeaning considering the fact that 80 percent of tax revenues collected from coast cities are shared by all the other counties.

It would be a sad commentary on the intelligence of state department officials if they allow petty personal grudges to drastically reduce their incomes.

Perhaps they'd better come up with more than a few leads in the form of vague promises. These restless natives are prepared to go all the way to the top if necessary. When that happens, heads often roll.

The stepchild has reached his majority, and the majority is out for action.

Report from capitol

Senator John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) today introduced S. 3108, "The Forestry Incentives Act of 1972," a bill to carry out a forestry incentives program to a higher level of forest resource protection, development, and management by small nonindustrial private and non-Federal public forest landowners.

"American forests have served the nation well," Stennis said, "but within 30 years the country will need twice the wood that is being produced now. Over 300 million acres of American woodland is in private nonindustrial ownership. Another 29 million acres is in non-Federal public ownership. Together these make up 86 percent of the land available to grow timber, but this land is operating at only one-half of growing capacity. It is here that the needs of the future must be met."

Senator Stennis pointed out that there would be multiple benefits from the program. Besides increased production of wood, there would be environmental improvements, jobs for the unemployed would be created, and the economy in rural areas would be strengthened.

"My proposal," Stennis said, "would parallel the programs now used in the agricultural community, but with special attention to the needs of forestry. No new organization would be needed to administer the plan, for it would operate through existing agencies of the Department of Agriculture and State governments."

Under the bill, land owners would be encouraged to plant seedlings and improve existing timber stands, and also to provide recreational opportunities, enhance environmental values, protect watersheds, and improve fish and wildlife habitat.

The Federal government would share up to 50 percent of the cost of these improvements on private land and up to 80 percent on non-Federal public lands.

"This program can make a very significant contribution to American forestry in the next ten years," Senator Stennis said. "It can be applied to 45 million acres and can add billion board feet to annual timber production."

He pointed out that timber production has such a long lead time, before trees can be harvested, that extraordinary measures are necessary if the country is to have the wood it needs in the year 2000.

"The problem is so large," Stennis said, "that all feasible means of public and private financing of timber production must be explored. Accordingly, my bill provides that the Secretary of Agriculture investigate and evaluate, through a pilot program, the effectiveness of loans, loan guarantees, and other means of financing, to see what other avenues may be open to us in pursuing the objectives of this program."

"What is set forth in this bill," he said, "in the form of incentives to private landowners to grow timber, will be a long step toward overcoming the shortage of wood that faces the nation in the future."

The bill is being referred to the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Legislative Report

By EARL "BUCK" LADNER
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
HANCOCK COUNTY

Governor Bill Waller told a joint session of the Legislature Tuesday that he favored new taxes on heavy trucks, beer and a shift of funds from county roads, to fund a $900,000,000 highway program. He also mentioned an alternate plan to finance the highway program by a tax on gasoline and cigarettes.

Senator Martin T. Smith and myself met with state officials concerning the location of the hospital booth to be on I-10 east of the Louisiana line. We were encouraged but not satisfied with the meetings. We are going to meet with Federal Highway officials this coming week.

It has been said by some people that we are trying to stop or delay the opening of Interstate 10. We are not discussing nor have we discussed such a thing. We simply are trying to get the hospital booth moved from the east side of Highway 607 to the west side so that our tourist trade won't be hurt on the Gulf Coast. The Harrison County legislative delegation is in full support of this action.

I would like to congratulate Rusty Chapman and Randy Shaw for a job well done. Rusty and Randy were pages in the House of Representatives this week. Rusty is the son of Mr. Chapman and Randy is the son of Mr. Shaw.

On Saturday, February 19, I will be at Rusty's Restaurant and covered with a quarter inch and will enjoy talking with you in about 50 days.

Seeds are planted in early from 9-10 a.m. I will be at Rusty's Restaurant and covered with a quarter inch and will enjoy talking with you in about 50 days.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling
City-County Library Writer

Your City-County Library has recently acquired a rather remarkable new book by Charles Fair, titled "From the Jaws of Victory". It outlines the careers of a selected group of military commanders, from Caesar to Westmoreland, who won fame and honors not because of their victories in the field but, unaccountably, because they had failed so totally as leaders.

"These were not generals who were heading hopeless causes, doomed to defeat at the outset; they were officers who blundered time after time, wasting superior strength and advantage over the enemy, and were then honored by their countries and advanced up the ladder of importance to other important positions. Burnside, a top commander in the Union army in the Civil War, was a typical example; raised to the top after a small victory at the beginning of the war, he failed miserably at the vital battle of Antietam, was defeated, horribly, at Fredericksburg, and was then given command of one of Grant's corps and accorded many honors after the war. Broader, falling at every point as a general, he was made commander-in-chief of the southern forces and military advisor of President Davis.

The list goes on and on through the years, inept and even stupid men, failures at everything they undertook in the field, for some reason maintained their positions, acquired more important jobs, and when the fighting was over were honored and lauded as heroes by their countrymen.

The author, Charles Fair, might well follow this well-written and entrancing account with another book, this one about the counterparts of these generals who have won top honors and positions in civil life after laughable or tragic failures at their former posts. Like the flier, known to the world as Wrong Way Corrigan, or the football star who won fame by making a touchdown at the wrong goal, they strove mightily, came up with nothing, and were acclaimed as geniuses. Which adds point to Puck's observation: "What fools these mortals be!"

The public is easily fooled. Nobody knows why a politician who has been proven beyond doubt incompetent and even venal can get a substantial number of people to vote for him at the next election. Why was "Beast" Butler, a most obvious person as well as a very inept military man, given choice political jobs after the war and even elected Governor of his State? Why are some very mediocre characters pushed further up stairs after each stupid failure?

The answer must lie in the stars; certainly it has no relation to facts - or mathematics. That is what makes "From the Jaws of Victory" such interesting reading. But one wonders about the stars of other men who were involved with these lucky incompetents: was it pleasant to be killed because of their stupidity, did the sorrow and sufferings of the soldiers' families compensate for the blunders?

Get this book from your Public Library; it will give you something to think about. And as you read it, compare some of the current big shots with the incompetents of the past.

Trumpets In The Morning

by Perry D. Neal, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis

By Bob Barker, Jr., Evangelist
First Baptist Church
The column this week is prepared by BOB BARKER, JR., guest evangelist for THE TIME FOR CHRIST CRUSADE, 1972 at the First Baptist Church, 141 Main Street.

Joshua 3:1-5
Tomorrow is an untrodden path for every individual reading this newspaper. You have never lived in tomorrow. To have success on the untrodden highways of life, one must be sure he is governed by the Word of God. In the third chapter of Joshua, two basic points can be made.

First of all, as you face the tomorrows, you need a Guide. Joshua told his followers to get behind the Ark of the Covenant as they crossed the Jordan River into the Promised Land. The Ark of the Covenant signified the presence of the Lord. God was to lead them into the Promised Land.

Yet today we find drugs, alcohol, sex, and other countless self-styled remedies being used to lead men's lives to ruin. The One who put the stars in place, hung this world on nothing, accented out the valleys, piled up the mountains, filled the seas, the One who formed man and breathed into him the breath of life has been given a back seat in man's guidance system.

One must realize that he cannot have any success in the tomorrows until he knows the One who made the tomorrows, the Lord Jesus Christ. In Proverbs 3:6, we find, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths." To have guidance for tomorrow, you must acknowledge Christ as Saviour. This is done by acknowledging your sin and putting faith and trust in Christ and what He did on Calvary. One cannot have the guidance of Christ until he has the Saviourship of Christ.

The only prayer God has promised to hear from a lost person is the prayer, "God be merciful to me and save my wretched soul." He never turns a deaf ear to the cry of a sinner. But secondly, one needs to set some goals for the paths of tomorrow. Joshua told his people that their goal was to be crossing the Jordan River and possessing the Promised Land. A ditchdigger was asked why he dug ditches. He replied, "I dig the ditches to get the money to buy the food to get the strength to dig the ditch." A glaring example of a lack of goal.

If you are to amount to something for your Lord, family, church, community, and self, "one must reach for the lofty heights of extraordinary service. Moral goals must be set - God's standard is PURITY.

Educational goals must be set - God's standard is to do your best as it is always a sin to do less than your best. Spiritual goals must be set - God's standard is to take a step at a time to new heights in his service.

In goal setting and in life itself, one cannot enjoy the luxury of victory without the price of sacrifice. God help you to be a disciple of Christ and reach the seemingly unattainable as Christ gives direction.

STRAIGHT AHEAD!!!

Water Cross Substitute

Lovers of water cross who do not live near a body of cold, clear running water will find an acceptable substitute in upland place, hung this world on nothing, accented out the valleys, piled up the mountains, filled the seas, the One who formed man and breathed into him the breath of life has been given a back seat in man's guidance system.

There are both curly-cress and straight-cress. Both have a taste much like water. Both are a funny place and are not particularly about soil.

Pearlington To Have Moon Rock Display

A lunar sample collected by Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. (Buzz) Aldrin of Apollo XI will go on display this week in Pearlington.

To be exhibited on Friday, February 18 from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the post office and from noon until 5 p.m. at the Charles B. Murphy School, both in Pearlington, the rock will also be shown on Tuesday, February 22 in the Margaret Reed Crosby Memorial Library in Poyune. Later the lunar sample will be on display at various locations in the Jackson area including Millsaps College and a viewing via educational television.

Pearlington, a scenic community near the mouth of the East Pearl River with a rich history which goes back to the early exploration of America lies adjacent to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility.

Pearlington became the new home of many of the 850 persons displaced by the program when their homesites in Hancock County were absorbed into MTF, built to capture test fire the first and second stages of the Apollo-Saturn V space vehicle.

Pearlington, in fitting fashion, is now to see part of the fruits of its tree of space life samples gathered from the Apollo manned lunar missions are helping earth scientists learn more about the moon and solar system. Pearlington has given much.

When astronaut Armstrong first set foot on the moon, he said, "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

Behind him in the lunar module, Eagle, was Buzz Aldrin and in the command module, Columbia, Astronaut Michael Collins.

They heard So did the ghosts of Logtown, Gainseville, Santa Rosa, Westonia, and Napoleon, communities erased from the earth to usher in the decade of space.

According to scientists the sample is of volcanic type origin. Its luster is due to the well-developed crystal qualities of its mineral content. Total weight is approximately 31 grams. The official mineralogy or composition breakdown of the specimen is pyroxene 50 percent, ilmenite 30 percent, plagioclase 20 percent.

The ghosts of communities past read the scientific explanation earlier this year when the rock was on display at MTF.

They smiled. "A moon rock," they said, "is a moon rock."

The purpose for their creation had been fulfilled. The ghosts gathered and drifted toward the thick overgrowth so reminiscent of the Devil's Swamp Land, their spawning ground and were seen no more.

If by chance any remain, it is probable that they too will visit the moon rock at Pearlington.

Council Holds Brief Meeting

Bay St. Louis will not participate in the joint sewerage treatment proposal with Waveland because of lack of funds according to Commissioner William Frisbie who made the announcement at Monday's brief council meeting.

Frisbie, who met last week with Waveland officials and representatives of the Environmental Protection Agency in Jackson, said that Bay St. Louis' share was too costly to make the venture feasible. However, Frisbie said that there is still a possibility the city may participate at a later date.

In other business, Commissioners Arceneaux and Frisbie criticized Mayor Carver for making Court St. one-way without the approval of the commission council. Carver said that he had acted alone because he felt it was a police department matter and didn't need the council's approval.

The order making Court St. one-way was rescinded by Carver and the proposal was referred to the Planning and Zoning Board.

Army's Civilian Award Goes To Global Manager

Don McAfee, resident manager, Global Associates, Mississippi Test Facility, was Tuesday presented with the U. S. Army's Outstanding Civilian Service Award.

R. Stanley Marketter, president, Global Assts., Oakland, Calif., made the presentation on behalf of Major General R. C. Marshall, commanding general, Safeguard System Command, Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala.

Also participating in the ceremonies, held at MTF, were, Edward Farley, president, Atlas Corporation, New York; John Kerfoot, president, H. C. Smith Construction Co., Los Angeles, Calif.; Raymond Tyrrell, vice president, Atlas Corp., Washington, D. C.; Glen Elkins, vice president, Global Assts., Oakland, Calif.; Glen Vaughan, manager, Site Engineering and Maintenance, Global Assts., MTF.

Global Associates is a joint venture of the Atlas Corporation and H. C. Smith Construction Co.

The award citation covered McAfee's contributions and achievements on behalf of the U. S. Armed Services during his five years as Global's resident manager at Kwajalein Missile Range, Marshall Islands.

Marketter stressed the attitude of high competence portrayed by McAfee in the execution of his duties.

Even the difficulties experienced in a transfer of operational command at Kwajalein from the U. S. Navy to the U. S. Army were smoothly handled, the Global president allowed.

In part, the official citation reads:

"His direction of logistics support activities in support of research and development test operations of highest national priority and of a remote community was outstanding."

"His administrative and management efforts reflect great credit upon himself, Global Associates, Kwajalein Missile Range, Safeguard System Command, and the United States Army."

Courthouse Insurance Renewal Approved

Chancery Clerk John Rutherford told county supervisors at a meeting Tuesday that February 22 is the expiration date on county courthouse insurance policy. A renewal policy providing $215,000 coverage has been offered through a cooperative arrangement with three local agencies - Hancock Insurance, Kergosien and Coastal Insurance.

Representatives of the three agencies have requested that Ames Kergosien be delegated agent to handle the policy, which calls for $1,222 annual payments. A motion was passed by the board to accept the policy.

Supervisors also passed a motion to investigate a service contract, at the rate of $80 annually, for a Monroe calculator in the sheriff's office.

In other action, a bid opening was set for 10 a.m. March 20 to purchase equipment for beat three. Bid advertisements will be published for the purchase of one or more six-cylinder motor graders.

Advertisements will also be published for the sale of several pieces of heavy equipment from beat one and the county seawall account. Beat one vehicles for sale will include a Galle motor grader, a Ford tractor, a Ford flatbed truck and a 1965 International dump truck.

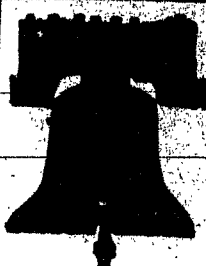

A letter was received from Hugh Hill, Southern district director of the International Paper Company, in reference to a prior request from the company for payment of a bill delinquent since 1968, when the company contracted for 20,000 cubic yards of dirt fill for the Ansley Road project.

In the letter, Hill said, "The pit area will be cross sectioned by the county surveyor (engineer) for determination of the cubic volume removed therein. We will receive a copy of the surveyor's notes in order that we might audit same."

The letter continued that the company will bill Hancock County for the appropriate amount of money based on the engineer's figures. The board agreed to this proposal.

A discussion of the present county sanitary land fill as being unsatisfactory led to the appointment of beat four supervisor H. (Bully) Zengarling to find a more suitable and acceptable location, subject to the approval of the County Health Officer.

Facts about drug abuse the chemical cop-out

The use of an illegal substance, such as marijuana, LSD, barbiturates and heroin, are obviously the drugs that young people use, so the drug abuse problem is equated with youth.

An awareness of this problem that threatens the very fiber of our young people is the responsibility of all in today's society.

Here are a few ways to recognize drug abuse: Inability to co-ordinate when standing or walking. Muddled speech and impaired judgement can indicate barbiturates. Rapid pulse, restlessness and bad breath are indicative of amphetamine abuse. The person may tend to be nervous, highly talkative and over active.

Marijuana abuse typically leads to increased appetite, with a special craving for sweets. The user is often apathetic, listless and careless about his personal habits.

Drug abuse is human misery compounded by human misunderstanding. Drug abuse affects both private and public behavior and provokes value judgments about pleasure.

ISN'T IT OUR DUTY to be "informed" on the horrible effects of this world-wide menace? Understand the early symptoms and the penalties of the laws covering drug abuse.

Yes, you CAN help!

Mrs. Marengo, Mr. Bernard Reign At SJA Carnival Ball

The Wonderful Wizard of Oz was the theme of SJA Carnival Association's 36th annual ball staged Friday night in St. Joseph's Memorial Hall with Mrs. E.J. Marengo and Alvin Bernard as reigning monarchs.

A crystal and gold chandelier hung above the royal throne and the traditional Mardi Gras colors of purple, green and gold accented the stage decorations.

The queen was attired in a gown of gold peau de soie. The bodice fashioned with a scooped neckline and long sleeves, was beaded in silver and gold studded with rhinestones. Her purple crushed velvet mantle, appliqued with gold and green sequined masks, was attached to a collar of carnival-colored plumes. The tri-colored plumes emphasized her jeweled crown and she carried a brilliantly studded gold sceptre trimmed with a white cattleya orchid entwined with Mardi Gras color ribbons. Trainbearers were Misses Theresa Ryan and Angela Koennen. They wore white floor length dresses.

Mrs. Laurie Kiefer Byrd, Grand Duchess, escorted by James Travirco, chose a champagne chiffon ball gown fashioned on Empire lines with flowing skirt. The bodice of gold-threaded brocade, heavily encrusted with beads and aurora borealis jewels, was styled with a Y-neckline. Long gold gloves and a tiara of rhinestones and aurora borealis stones completed her attire. She carried a purple cattleya orchid interspersed with green and gold ribbons.

After presentation of the

Her junior attendants, attired in white, were her daughter, Miss Kirsten Byrd, and Miss Kelli Kingston. They wore wrist corsages.

Following appearance of the king, members of the court were introduced by David Trantel, master of ceremonies. Maids and dukes were Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas M. Haas, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Largay, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Thieffley III, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Stechmann Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Barton Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Wentworth Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wallace S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. M. Randolph McIver, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur N. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra D. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Hotard, Lt. and Mrs. Landon A. Onstad and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Rosetti. The maids wore formal gowns in pastel shades and each carried a cymbidium orchid on a background matching her gown.

Music for dancing following the grand march and the King's party was furnished by Wade Brothers orchestra. Mrs. Edgar F. Spratley was general chairman.

CHARLEY RHODES II has been promoted to assistant cashier at Merchants Bank. In last week's Echo, the wrong picture was used above Rhodes' nameplate.

POLICE REPORTS

Burglars broke into St. Stanislaus School sometime Thursday night and stole $600 in cash from an administrative office. Bay Police Chief Robert Goodsell and Ptn. Alvin Favre investigated the incident and said nothing else was found missing. The theft was reported Friday morning.

A screen was cut and window jalousies removed to gain entry into Christ Episcopal Day School Tuesday night. School authorities told police that although offices and desks were ransacked, nothing was found to be missing. BSL Ptn. Harris Boudreaux and Alvin Favre are investigating evidence found at the school. They were assisted by Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, and Deputy Sheriffs Lathan Garriga and Ronald Peterson.

Asst. Police Chief Douglas Williams and Ptn. Ennett Ellis answered a call from Dr. J. D. Rutherford's office Tuesday about 6:40 p. m., when it was discovered that a person or persons had broken into the physician's office. No articles were found to be missing.

A local man was injured in a two-car collision Tuesday night at the intersection of Highway 90 and Washington St.

According to Goodsell, Andrew Ramage was driving on the wrong side of the highway about 7 p. m. when he collided head-on with an automobile driven by Albert Theodore, of Gulfport. Ramage sustained head injuries and was taken to Hancock General Hospital for treatment. Ramage was given emergency first aid treatment before the ambulance arrived by Auxiliary Policeman Harold Helne.

Damage to Theodore's car was estimated at $600 and Ramage's was demolished. Ramage lives at 112 Leopold St., Bay St. Louis.

W. G. MacArthur of Pearlport told the sheriff's department Tuesday that he found a 1966 Pontiac LeMans automobile on an abandoned road in the Lake Pearlport Subdivision.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said the car had apparently been stolen and an attempt made to strip the vehicle. Burglars had removed the seats, spare tire and three wheels, radio, shift stick, and loosened the motor.

Information found in the car indicated that it belonged to Gene Hempel, 501 Ridgeway, Little Rock, Ark. and that Hempel was or is a student at the University of Arkansas.

The sheriff, who was assisted by deputy James Ladner, said there was no NCIC stolen report on the vehicle and attempts to contact the owner failed. The automobile is being held for recovery by the owner.

SHERIFF'S REPORTS

Five men, one an escapee from a Ga. penitentiary, were arrested by sheriff's deputies Saturday in connection with the theft of fireworks from three Highway 90 merchants.

Answering a Saturday morning call from Louise's Gift Shop Sheriff's Deputy Lathan Garriga and Special Agent Ronald Peterson apprehended two juveniles and three adults on a complaint of stealing fireworks from the shop.

The deputies discovered about $40 worth of fireworks in an automobile belonging to one of the youths. Later investigation revealed that they had been stolen from Pearl's Gift Shop and the Reptile Farm, both on Highway 90 in Waveland.

The five were taken to the county jail where they were booked on two counts each of petty larceny. The two 17-year-old juveniles were accompanied by Ernest J. Dwork, 22, and Lawrence F. Young, 18. The third male who had no identification, first told deputies his name was Jerry Strange. Highway Patrol investigator Travis Low later identified Strange as James Bishop from Powell, Tenn., wanted by Georgia authorities as an escapee from a state penitentiary.

Bishop is being held without bond pending his return to Georgia. The other four, all from Hollywood, Fla. have been released on $100 bonds.

Coast Representatives Speak Out On Dredging

by Adoree Shortle
Echo staff writer

A U. S. Army Corps of Engineers hearing Thursday on proposed dead shell reef dredging in the Mississippi Sound opened a Pandora's box, releasing a storm of objections to the dredging along with scientifically based approval. The hearing came as a result of a public announcement by the C. O. E. of an application to dredge the dead shell reefs by Potashnick Materials, Inc. Although a contract to dredge was awarded to the company (then Middle Gulf Constr. Co.) in 1970, no objection was raised until the notice last month. Potashnick was awarded the contract after competitive bidding by the state Marine Conservation Commission. Terms of the contract called for an initial $40,000 payment and annual royalties of $80,000.

Outnumbered two to one by objectors, proponents of the dredging were more heavily armed with scientific facts based on marine-oriented studies and data from similar operations in Louisiana. Dissenters, arguments against the dredging seemed to be founded more on preconceived opinion than substantiated fact. All speakers defending the dredging were not lacking in emotion, however. William Demoran, biologist for the MCC spoke with obvious annoyance of prevalent misconceptions concerning the areas of operation. He said heatedly, "Someone has done a very good job of spreading all over the coast that we are going to dredge up everything in the Bay. It just isn't so!"

Demoran also admitted that he personally had "no great love for shell dredging," but felt he could not let his personal feelings enter into his scientific findings, which support the claim that controlled dredging is not harmful to marine life.

A panel of seven C.O.E. officials, headed by Col. Paul D. Sontag, conducted the hearing which lasted until late afternoon.

Norton Haas, Sr. of Bay St. Louis was the first to speak. Haas, as president of the commission, defended the commission's action in granting the contract as research showed dredging would have no detrimental effect on marine life or the surrounding areas. He pointed out that income derived from the contract would be of great help in furthering the commission's research efforts to improve both the commercial and sports fishing potential of the coast.

Fisheries Commission, Dr. Ted B. Ford, assistant director, office of Sea Grant Development, LSU, and Dr. Gordon Gunter, director emeritus, Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, Ocean Springs, ment, LSU, and Dr. Gordon Gunter, director emeritus, Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, Ocean Springs.

Speaking against the dredging were Mayor J. J. Wittman of Pass Christian who accused the MCC of a conflict of interest in issuing the contract and of creating what he termed "a partnership to rape the reefs"; former state representative Jim True who refuted claims of the above scientists, saying "doctors make mistakes, too...they're always getting sued"; Sam Mavor, commercial fisherman and seafood retailer who made a dramatic plea against dredging, prophesying that eventually "all the Mississippi reefs will become mudholes". Mavor was applauded when he said, "Seems to me all the men we just elected a few months ago could pass some legislation to give money to the Marine Conservation Commission so they don't have to sell their reefs to get money".

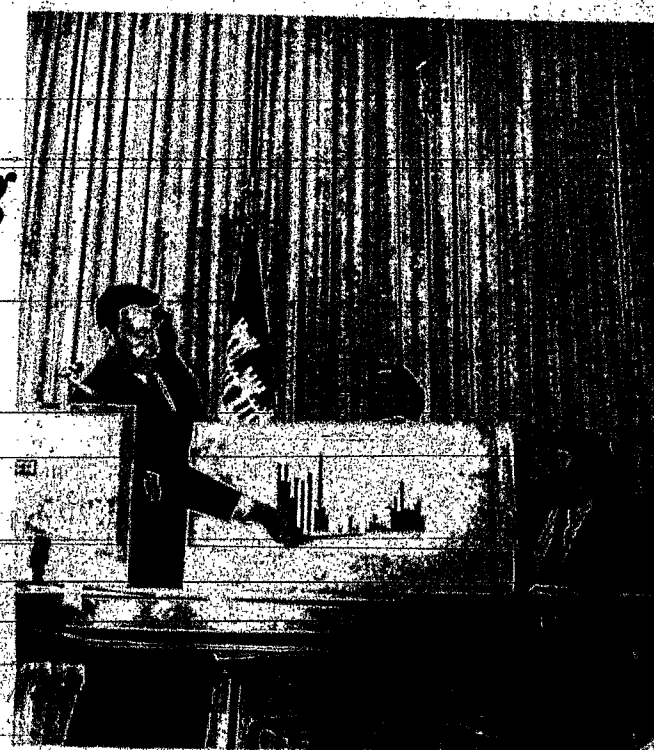

State Senator Ben Stone of Harrison County asked that the need for money to operate MCC not interfere with the dredging. He indicated that he would support Sen. Kenneth Robinson of Pascagoula in introducing legislation to impose a tax on menhaden fishing, which would be used to supplement the MCC revenues.

Later, Sen. Stone told the Echo that, if approval of the dredging application was denied by the COE, he felt the "innocent contractor" (Potashnick) should be reimbursed in full by the state for the money already paid to the commission. Stone said his staff Robinson would introduce legislation to that effect Friday.

According to Potashnick general manager John Green, the company has already spent about $150,000 in royalties and other expenses since signing the contract.

A Corps of Engineers spokesman said it would probably be another four weeks before a decision would be reached on the application.

At the conclusion of the contract negotiations, board president Dolph Keller told Broome that "I seriously doubt if there is any road project in the state that the state aid division has spent more time on - we very much appreciate your patience and efforts".

COASTAL MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC

Our attitudes, or the way we feel toward certain things, reflect our basic understanding of the situations we cope with in everyday life and frequently reflect a number of fears and misconceptions that have been handed down from earlier times. This is especially true of our attitudes about mental illness. In order to get a better picture of your attitudes about mental illness, try answering the following questions:

1. Do you have a personal fear of becoming mentally ill?
2. Do you feel that mental illness is a disgrace?
3. Do you believe that mental illness is always incurable?

If you have answered "yes" to any of the above questions, you have some of the popular misconceptions about mental illness which most of us share to some extent.

Many people have secret fears of becoming mentally ill which cause them much needless unhappiness. These fears seem so unnecessary when we realize that most people at some time during their lives feel anxious, discouraged, and inadequate, often for periods of days or weeks. Frequently the very people whom we admire as being perfectly self-confident and happy may actually be going through a very trying period in their lives.

When we realize that other people share our difficulties, we can also begin to understand that often the only differences between a so-called "normal" person and one who is mentally ill are differences of degree in personal adjustment. What is often referred to as normal or abnormal behavior can be regarded as "attempts by individuals to adjust to life situations, with different methods and different degrees of success. There are no sharp differences between "normal" and "abnormal"; any individual in the course of a lifetime may show numerous changes in the success of his personal adjustment.

The feeling that people who are mentally ill are "different" makes many people reluctant to take their problems to psychiatrists or psychologists, although they would not hesitate to consult a dentist or other medical specialist for a physical problem. It is actually no more disgraceful to be mentally ill than to be physically ill, and, like physical problems, mental problems are easier to solve when they are mild than when they have been allowed to develop into a more serious condition.

Closely related to the feeling that mental illness is a disgrace is the belief that mental illness is incurable and that people who have been discharged from mental hospitals are to be regarded with suspicion. Beliefs of this sort are erroneous and often keep people from seeking needed treatment for themselves or members of their family because they fear a resulting social stigma. Actually, if adequate treatment is received in time, about 80 percent of all hospitalized mental patients can recover and live satisfactorily within our society. In many cases with a much higher level of personal adjustment than before their illness. With the increased benefits of scientific understanding today more and more people are realizing that emotional and behavior problems are shared to some extent by everyone and that serious problems can often be prevented by prompt professional treatment of minor problems.

The next few articles in this series will discuss some current ideas of personality development, beginning with a discussion of early childhood emotional development.

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Carnival is over here and in New Orleans. Sportmen will get back to fishing as their main sport while hunters have only until Feb. 21st to kill rabbits and quail. Hunting in general was only fair this winter. Doves were few and the same goes for duck, geese, etc. Rabbit hunting has been rather good for the past month due to the woods becoming much drier with only a little light rains.

The highlights of the past week was the Carnival parade held Saturday night and the O. L. G. Ball on Friday night with Mrs. Valerie Marengo as queen and Al Bernard as King.

As for fishing it has not been too hot except for some green trout being caught here and there with a few perch thrown in. Speckles don't seem to be hitting anywhere. Very few have been gotten by both the Railroad and Hi-way bridges, at the canals down Bayou Caddy way, in the Pipe Line Canal or even in outside waters. They won't be caught until local waters clear up plenty.

Saw a picture of Dudley Heiliger in the Herald paper with the 9 pound, 12 ounce speckle trout which set a State record for that species and was caught on a 72-S Mirro-Lure. The fish was 31 inches long. Dudley is the host of the Gulfport television program, "Outdoors Along the Coast." A number of our local fishermen have appeared on his program. He is a good announcer, makes and sells baits and has proven that he can catch the big ones. Good going, Dudley.

Henry Mont, Jr., and son caught 23 bass last week when the weather was warm. They were caught in a private pond. Both father and son are good fishermen.

Camille, Onorato on his days off fishes down the coast. He catches speckles, red fish and what have you. Camille is also a warm weather fisherman.

Prentiss Asher fishes, gets oysters, catches soft crabs and flounders. He goes regularly and usually brings home something, as he put it.

J. C. Shubert does quite a bit of fishing. He has lost his best fishing partner. Claude, his son, has recently moved to Texas City, Texas, to live. They made a good father and son fishing combination.

According to Emile Schindler, one of our best fishing informers, the first soft crabs caught in March are the largest. We all know that March and April are the best months for catching soft crabs. We know that Emile is right in his prediction. He is a past master with a cast net and enjoys tugging for oysters when things are right and catching shrimp when they are giving. He says, "Fix up the old light now and be ready for soft crabs and flounders, next month. We should have a banner season this summer."

Another thing we learned from past experience is that fish bite better after bad weather and too much rain. There was both this winter.

When one sees mullets jumping in waters out front, fishing will improve.

Pete Tartavouille said he has been fishing and hunting all his life. There's no better sports, he claims.

Clois Dedeaux is waiting to go soft crabbing and floundering. His hand is itching to pick 'em up. Vic Carver is his fishing partner. Won't be long now, Clois. You have a lot of friends waiting for the same thing.

Something to think about. Beach Seiners, take your catch out of your Seive in shallow water so those you don't want can swim away and not become a beach litter of dead fish. Let's help keep our beach beautiful.

The Thieves Market is open and pretty busy according to Allen Champagne and Al Seely, two active workers. The shop is on Hi-way 90, in the Blooman Gas Co. building. Handles imports from Mexico, Guatemala and original English brass-dubbings.

Quail hunters will take to the woods for the prize birds this week, the last of the season. Bird dogs will take a rest until the season opens next year.

Gene Leuder who loves to fish hasn't been in a long time. Too busy, he said.

John Scaife, Sr. and yours truly caught a few bass last week by the hardest.

Fred Leston from New York wrote: "I am dying to come back to the Bay for another fishing trip." Don't die, Fred, just come on down a little later when fishing gets better.

A game fish is the white perch, also known as Crappie or Sac-r-lait. A very popular fish in La. and Miss. It has a good food value. A real fighter when hooked on a fly rod or any other tackle. They are getting more plentiful in our local waters all the time.

Someone said: A horse can be driven to water, but a pencil must be lead.

Gigger Demoran was mingling with friends at the Bay Monday. He lives in Biloxi but works with an Oil Company out of Morgan City. He does a lot of deep sea fishing when off duty. Catches some big fish, too.

Sorry to report the death of Johnny Egloff Monday morning. He served as Sheriff of Hancock County. Did hunting and fishing in his younger years. Sympathy is extended to his family.

Grover Graham, Jr. was calling on customers here. Grover plays golf, fishes and hunts. He has made 3 holes-in-one on a 3-par course and two on regular courses. I have played golf for 55 years and have never made a hole-in-one. The average golfer never makes one in a life time. Grover is also a good fisherman and hunts when the seasons are open. Norman Benigno is one of his best friends. Come over more often, Grover.

SODALITY MEETING
Sodality of Our Lady of St. Clare's Parish, Waveland, will meet at 2 p. m., Tuesday, February 22, in Costello Hall. All members are asked to attend.

Advisory Committee Elects Chairman

Mrs. Anita Lamb was elected chairman of the Hancock County Advisory Committee for the Coastal Mental Health Program at a meeting of the committee Friday, at St. Augustine Seminary. This volunteer committee works in an advisory capacity in coordinating the mental health mental retardation needs of Hancock County with the Coastal Mental Health Program. Members present included Donald Caldwell, Waldo Dearing, Mrs. Lamb, Dave McDonald, Mrs. Nancy Russ, and Dr. J. D. Rutherford. Other members of the committee include Dr. M. L. Dodson, Michael Haas, Miss Marileen Maher, and James Rester. Representing the Coastal Mental Health Clinic were Ray Cox and Mrs. Virginia Wheat.

The committee reviewed Senate Bill No. 1559 recently introduced by Senators Cassibry, Stone, Perry, Stecker, and Smith to obtain the first state funds to assist community programs for mental health and mental retardation, and they recommended that local citizens write their State Senators and Representatives in support of this bill. The State Senator representing Hancock County is Martin T. Smith, and State Representative is Earl Ladner Jr.

Bruce Phillips of the Coastal Mental Health Clinic discussed a forthcoming effort to obtain a grant for funds for a study to determine the extent of drug use in this area.

Committee members made plans for the preparation and distribution of referral information to provide all county and other community agencies with reliable information for answering questions about mental health services in Hancock County.

Ray Cox reviewed the past eight months' services provided for Hancock County by the Coastal Mental Health Clinic. These services included the following activities:

1. Bi-monthly newspaper article titled "Community Mental Health."
2. Collaboration with the Hancock Juvenile Court in working with two adolescent delinquent groups.
3. Development of an outpatient service with intake services and individual and group treatment available.
4. Solicitation and receipt of 1/2 mill tax support from Hancock County Board of Supervisors.
5. Solicitation and receipt of financial support from Hancock County United Fund.
6. Recruitment of a volunteer social worker who was later placed on the staff as a paid employee.
7. The on-going coordination of screening services for exceptional children.
8. The supervision of a volunteer psychiatrist.
9. The development and carrying out of a two-week day camp for retarded children. This camp provided transportation, supervised play, and craft activities, as well as an evaluative experience for parents and special class teachers.
